Looking for CME/CPD Accreditation

The GastroenterologyHub is designed to support continuous professional development through CME/CPD-accredited sessions. Attendees will have the opportunity to earn recognized credits by participating in keynote lectures, scientific sessions, and workshops led by international experts in gastroenterology, hepatology, digestive diseases, and liver health. These accredited activities are structured to enhance clinical expertise, research knowledge, patient care practices, and professional competence, contributing to ongoing career advancement in the field of gastroenterology and hepatology.

WHAT IS CME?

CME Certifications (Continued Medical Education) is mostly focused on medical knowledge and the physician's medical expert role and consist of educational activities that serve to maintain, develop, or increase the knowledge, skills and professional performance and relationships that a physician uses to provide services for patients, the public, or the profession.

WHAT IS CPD?

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) refers to ongoing learning that helps professionals improve their knowledge, skills, and experience in their field. It focuses on continuous growth through activities such as training, conferences, and professional practice, often supported by a structured process for documenting learning.
